THE ECONOMY OF ENERGY

There are a lot of reasons to conserve energy. These reasons range from the environmental to the practical, but it's the latter that definitely hits home, literally and figuratively. We can all save a considerable amount of money by altering how we consume power in our day to day lives. Here are a few tips that could help in improving our energy efficiency.

SMALL CHANGES THAT HAVE A HUGE IMPACT

There are some tiny changes in our habits that can go a long way in impacting our utility bills. These things usually involve a level of practicality. Turning off lights in rooms or places not in use may seem like a small thing, but it adds up. Hanging your clothes instead of using the dryer does the same thing. Look at your home and see which ways you cut corners with such small changes.

REPLACE LIGHTBULBS

There are more energy efficient bulbs available out there. In some cases, these bulbs that consume less power actually tend to last longer. Halogen incandescent, LEDs or compact fluorescent bulbs are more efficient alternatives to incandescent bulbs.

CONSIDER SMART POWER STRIPS

Some electronics and appliances actually consume power even when not in use. Smart power strips address this by shutting off power to unused electronics. Furthermore, some of these power strips can be programmed to give out power on set times, so you can plan your energy distribution in advance, especially if you go to work or on vacation.

There are a lot of ways to save on energy, and it all boils down to practicality. If something is not in use, don't allow that thing to continue using up power, because that is an unnecessary added strain on your finances. It just makes sense, don't you think?

SAVING ENERGY = SAVING MONEY!

Simplify Life By Living Smart!

A few life hacks to live by

Life in general is complicated already as it is, and if there are ways to make things even just a little bit simpler, then there shouldn't be any reason not to at least try it. This is what "life hacks" are; unorthodox but clever ways to solve specific problems and make life easier. We have a few of these life hacks that are designed to make certain tedious tasks more bearable. Take a look:

Drying Clothes Faster

If you don't have a dryer or really need to dry your clothes faster than normal, take your wet clothes and put in on top of a towel. Roll the towel with the wet piece of clothing inside. Then, twist the towel tightly in order to get rid of the excess water from the clothing. With the excess water gone, the clothes will dry faster when hung out.

Solving Smelly Shoes

You can actually place dry tea bags in your shoes. By doing so, the bags absorb the unwanted odor. This would definitely be a treat not just for you, but for everyone you share a space with.

Looking For Small Items

Looking for tiny items (like earrings) in the house can be very frustrating, not to mention extremely difficult. One way to simplify the process is by covering the end of the vacuum cleaner nozzle with stocking or pantyhose. This will act as a filter to allow you to get into those hard to reach areas in search of your items without losing them inside the vacuum cleaner.

Toilet Bowl Stains

One quick and easy way to get rid of toilet bowl stains is with a can of cola. Pour the contents into the bowl and let it sit overnight, then wash with soapy water and you can flush those stains away.

Keeping Your Buttons Secure

Buttons have a tendency from falling off shirts as the threads get worn out over time. We can prevent this simply by applying a bit of clear nail polish on the button threads.

These are but a few creative but easy life hacks for common situations. Remember, when faced with complications, keep in mind that there are always ways to get through them. Simplify your life today!

Rechargeable In-Your-Ear Hearing Aids

MDHearing

Joe Namath's Choice for Superior Hearing Aids

How can a rechargeable hearing aid that fits inside your ear and costs as low as $297 a pair be every bit as good as those that sell for $4,800 or more?

The answer: Although tremendous strides have been made in Hearing Aid Technology, those cost reductions have not been passed on to you. Until now...MDHearing™ uses the same kind of technology incorporated into hearing aids that cost thousands more at a small fraction of the price.

Products are proudly designed in America & supported by US audiologists

AS LOW AS ~~$900.00~~ $297 for a pair

"I switched to MDHearing aids and so should you. These are better than my $8,000 hearing aids."

Rechargeable In-Your-Ear Hearing Aids

MDHearing

Joe Namath's Choice for Superior Hearing Aids

How can a rechargeable hearing aid that fits inside your ear and costs as low as $297 a pair be every bit as good as those that sell for $4,800 or more?
The answer: Although tremendous strides have been made in Hearing Aid Technology, those cost reductions have not been passed on to you. Until now...MDHearing™ uses the same kind of technology incorporated into hearing aids that cost thousands more at a small fraction of the price.

Choose From Our Smallest NEO XS or the Best-Selling NEO

Our smallest hearing aid ever! $397 for a pair — NEO XS — or — Our best-selling hearing aid! $297 for a pair — NEO

Sits discreetly inside your ear canal without anyone knowing

Products are proudly designed in America & supported by US audiologists

AS LOW AS ~~$999.00~~ $297 for a pair

"I switched to MDHearing aids and so should you. These are better than my $8,000 hearing aids."

THE ECONOMY OF ENERGY

There are a lot of reasons to conserve energy. These reasons range from the environmental to the practical, but it's the latter that definitely hits home, literally and figuratively. We can all save a considerable amount of money by altering how we consume power in our day to day lives. Here are a few tips that could help in improving our energy efficiency.

SMALL CHANGES THAT HAVE A HUGE IMPACT

There are some tiny changes in our habits that can go a long way in impacting our utility bills. These things usually involve a level of practicality. Turning off lights in rooms or places not in use may seem like a small thing, but it adds up. Hanging your clothes instead of using the dryer does the same thing. Look at your home and see which ways you cut corners with such small changes.

REPLACE LIGHTBULBS

There are more energy efficient bulbs available out there. In some cases, these bulbs that consume less power actually tend to last longer. Halogen incandescent, LEDs or compact fluorescent bulbs are more efficient alternatives to incandescent bulbs.

CONSIDER SMART POWER STRIPS

Some electronics and appliances actually consume power even when not in use. Smart power strips address this by shutting off power to unused electronics. Furthermore, some of these power strips can be programmed to give out power on set times, so you can plan your energy distribution in advance, especially if you go to work or on vacation.

There are a lot of ways to save on energy, and it all boils down to practicality. If something is not in use, don't allow that thing to continue using up power, because that is an unnecessary added strain on your finances. It just makes sense, don't you think?

SAVING ENERGY = SAVING MONEY!

The above information is not a substitute for professional advice and is provided for informational purposes only. The Benefits Of Having A HOBBY

Remember when you were a kid, you had so many activities you can do to entertain yourself. Then, like with many of us, we grew older and life just became a series of work-related activities and personal obligations. However, it is strongly suggested that we pick up hobbies again (whether we revisit old ones or start new ones), especially now that we are adults.

Here are some really important reasons why:

For a much-needed break

- Above all else, hobbies allow us to take a break from the things that we do and just sit and enjoy. Many people disregard this as they think engaging in such activities is not productive, which is not entirely accurate. After all, isn't resting your mind and body and doing something fun to make sure you're okay once it's time to work again a productive course of action?

Eustress

- Not many people are aware of this, but there is a thing called eustress, which is basically the good kind of stress. It's basically what we feel when we're excited about something or life in general. Like, if you're into surprises, and you were told you'd have a nice surprise at the end of the day. The building anticipation is an example of eustress. Hobbies promote eustress, as it makes one excited and full of joy when engaging in that hobby.

Challenge And Exercise

- Hobbies are also a great way to challenge one's self and improve. Be it learning a new game, playing a sport, solving a puzzle, depending on the hobby, one's mind, body, and at times even emotions (like when you're reading a thrilling book or watching a movie you love) get engaged positively.

Social Interaction

- Hobbies can also be a gateway to new social interactions, or reigniting old ones. We all have friendships that are based on common interests. Certain hobbies, like board games for instance, are a great way to spend quality time with the people at home. There are a lot of communities online and within neighborhoods dedicated to people sharing experiences and information about their hobbies (book clubs, conventions, etc). Hobbies are a good way tor each out and make meaningful relationships.

Life is not all about work. From time to time, it's nice to devote a portion of our time to our hobbies. What brings you joy? What do you find genuinely fun? Do not hesitate to do these activities. It is definitely worth it.

INVEST a portion of your time towards enjoyment.

Stay Safe In The Kitchen

The kitchen can be one of the most dangerous rooms in the house. Following a few safety tips can lower your risk of being cut, burned or spreading germs.

Here are a few tips for staying safe in the kitchen:

Protect Your Feet!

Be sure to always wear shoes or similar protective footwear when cooking or preparing food. Often times, a dropped knife, spills or broken glass can cause severe injury to unprotected feet.

Keep A Fire Extinguisher Handy

As the kitchen is the room where all the cooking is done, it also carries a high possibility of fire. Be ready to take out flames by investing in a fire extinguisher and keeping it within reach.

Practice Knife Care And Safe Use

Keep your knives sharpened as dull blades have a high tendency of slipping. Be sure to use the right type and size of knife for specific tasks in order to prevent accidents and mishaps.

Be Particular About What You Wear

Loose, baggy clothes can catch fire from stoves when you're not careful. Certain clothes are also made with flammable or synthetic components that can melt onto one's skin when overheated. Avoid wearing these types of clothing when cooking in the kitchen.

Keep Your Hands Clean

As you are handling food, be sure that your hands are always clean and sanitized to prevent contaminating meat and other ingredients. It would also be safer to use paper towels instead of towels when dry hands as disposable paper towels ensure a more sanitary handling of ingredients.

Keep Your Kitchen Clean

In line with the previous tip, it is always crucial to maintain the cleanliness of the kitchen, particularly the area where food is actually prepared and cooked. The counter, the sink and all surface areas need to be consistently cleaned in order to avoid compromising the food being prepared.

By following the tips above, you can maintain a level of safety in your kitchen. Remember, negligence can lead to disaster, so always keep your kitchen safe and clean.

Simplify Life By Living Smart!

A few life hacks to live by

Life in general is complicated already as it is, and if there are ways to make things even just a little bit simpler, then there shouldn't be any reason not to at least try it. This is what "life hacks" are; unorthodox but clever ways to solve specific problems and make life easier. We have a few of these life hacks that are designed to make certain tedious tasks more bearable. Take a look:

Drying Clothes Faster

If you don't have a dryer or really need to dry your clothes faster than normal, take your wet clothes and put in on top of a towel. Roll the towel with the wet piece of clothing inside. Then, twist the towel tightly in order to get rid of the excess water from the clothing. With the excess water gone, the clothes will dry faster when hung out.

Solving Smelly Shoes

You can actually place dry tea bags in your shoes. By doing so, the bags absorb the unwanted odor. This would definitely be a treat not just for you, but for everyone you share a space with.

Looking For Small Items

Looking for tiny items (like earrings) in the house can be very frustrating, not to mention extremely difficult. One way to simplify the process is by covering the end of the vacuum cleaner nozzle with stocking or pantyhose. This will act as a filter to allow you to get into those hard to reach areas in search of your items without losing them inside the vacuum cleaner.

Toilet Bowl Stains

One quick and easy way to get rid of toilet bowl stains is with a can of cola. Pour the contents into the bowl and let it sit overnight, then wash with soapy water and you can flush those stains away.

Keeping Your Buttons Secure

Buttons have a tendency from falling off shirts as the threads get worn out over time. We can prevent this simply by applying a bit of clear nail polish on the button threads.

These are but a few creative but easy life hacks for common situations. Remember, when faced with complications, keep in mind that there are always ways to get through them. Simplify your life today!
